

Capping Rubber

Capping rubber extrusions are commonly used for screening in the mining and quarrying industries. They act as a buffer to help prevent damage to the cloth or deck frame. Capping rubber extrusions have a high EPDM rubber compound, providing resistance to weather, ozone and ageing. The following are our standard capping rubber extrusions.

 Send Inquiry

Product Description

Capping rubber extrusions are commonly used for screening in the mining and quarrying industries. They act as a buffer to help prevent damage to the cloth or deck frame. Capping rubber extrusions have a high EPDM rubber compound, providing resistance to weather, ozone and ageing. The following are our standard capping rubber extrusions.

